

TOP GEAR

Apogee Mic: Recording Made Easy

Sure, you need a great mic to make a great recording—but you also need a high quality signal going to your recording device. You could use a standard mic plugged into a preamp then an audio interface or A/D converter. Or, simply connect a USB cable to an Apogee Mic—yes, the same Apogee that arguably makes the best converters around—to your computer or iPad and start recording. It's so good, we've heard fully produced songs recorded with an Apogee Mic to an iPad, then mixed down in a studio. Easy, fast and totally pro.

'Simply connect a USB cable to an Apogee Mic to your computer or iPad and start recording. Easy, fast and totally pro.'

